Cleveland Independent School District:

Enhancing the operations of a growing school district

Consolidating several departments under one roof, the Cleveland Independent School District administration building helps increase collaboration and streamlines communication.

Making Tax Dollars Count

Located in Cleveland, Texas the new 51,000 sq ft Independent School District (ISD) administrative building is home to the HR department, business office, curriculum and special programs staff along with training facilities for the school community and education professionals. With more than 7,000 sq ft of meeting and training space, it also contains a new boardroom and meeting room that can host Cleveland ISD school board meetings.

As a publicly-funded build, Cleveland ISD wanted to ensure value and return on investment were maximized throughout the project. Spaces were designed to flex and multitask as needs change. For example, drop-down walls with dry-erase dividers were incorporated in meeting rooms to support collaboration and divide space. Furniture not only needed to look good, but also support a range of work styles and fit their budget without compromising durability and quality for the long term. Ginger Deck, Purchasing Manager, Cleveland Independent School District (CISD), explains, "Global helped us create aesthetically pleasing spaces while optimizing space, and providing our employees and visitors with functional workspaces that are conducive to productivity and collaboration."
